

GREATEST OF ALL by C. Michael Perry

© 2011 by C. Michael Perry

Not to a home,
Nor an inn,
Nor a stable,
Nor a stall;
Nothing new,
Nothing safe,
Nothing welcoming at all.
But in a cave His life began
And from a cave He rose to heaven.
He is the ever promised Savior
Who came to earth as least of all.

Skin your knees,
Shed a tear,
Love your family,
Stand up tall;
Learn to give,
Make mistakes,
And pray to God to ease your fall;
If it is there for you to do,
You'll find that He was there before you.
He is the ever promised Savior
Who came to earth as least of all.

He knows everything we ask Him:
Ev'ry answer, ev'ry prayer,
Ev'ry need before it's spoken,
Ev'ry triumph, ev'ry care.
He was born as our example,
As our master, teacher, friend.
To a cave He came so lowly,
From a cave He did ascend.

So, skin your knees,
Shed a tear,
Love your family,
Stand up tall;
Learn to give,
Make mistakes,
And pray to God to ease your fall;
If it's there for you to do,
You'll find that He was there before you.
He is the ever promised Savior
Who lives again Greatest of All.